There was a time in our lives When a kiss could heal the gravest wound. Now, as then, I long to take you In my arms, to counsel with the wisdom Of a seer (as experts say, to interfere). Your life was mine to give Than done, it's yours to live.

This year B.H.S. began sponsoring a more in depth Special Education program. This program brought a lot of new students into the school. It not only helped the handicapped students to adjust to a more independent lifestyle, but also gave the other B.H.S. students a chance to become more aware of and more mature toward the handicapped.

Fred Reed, Daniel Reyes, and Steven Hudetts take some time out to rest.

"BRENT"

Now that the Lord has stretched out his arms
to the one He will now protect from harm.
Say goodbye and finally let go, of the young boy
that we all love so.
Memories of laughter in those eyes of blue.
Now his happiness will always remain true.
On God's arms and on angel's wings, he is now in a place safe from all bad things.
Forever smiling and always young, laughter fills a heaven where there is always the Sun.
Where roses bloom and the rivers run free . . .
in a place more beautiful than eyes can see . . .
Over the rainbow where all the blue birds went,
there is beauty and love waiting for Brent.
